Drinking set no.248 - „Loos“

design: Adolf Loos, 1931

The bar set. The architect Adolf Loos was ahead of his time with this clear, uncompromising concept of form. This tumbler service is made with a so called brilliant pattern on the base. Each line is still cut by hand and carefully matt-polished. This series paved the way for modern glass design and is another Lobmeyr classic since 1931.

In celebration of the 80th anniversary of the series, we produce the original design for the water pitcher for the first time. It might have been a too abstract shape at the time.
